

Consultancy on track to triple turnover after fastest company recognition

A fast-growing digital consultancy has announced plans to triple turnover to £6.75 million in the next three years and recruit over 80 new employees., as it aims to become a European leader in digital transformation projects.

In recent months, Tribus Digital has delivered major projects in the construction, finance and technology sectors and was recognised as one of Europe's fastest-growing companies in the FT 1,000. It currently employs 40 people at its headquarters in central Leeds.

Tribus has launched a new brand identity to position itself for expansion and support recruitment. It also plans to launch a series of new digital products and services over the coming months to support its customers' requirements for an integrated approach to technology.

Dom Smith, director, said: "It's been a long journey to get to this point, but our new brand is a statement of intent to the market as we aim to triple the size of the business in the next three years. We construct digital solutions to solve complex problems for businesses, and our new brand communicates our confidence as a team to deliver industry-leading advice and project delivery that makes a significant difference to our client's operations."

The consultancy works with enterprise-level clients to build apps and bespoke software that make businesses more productive and creates websites and digital content to improve how customers interact with them.

Fellow director Laura Ellis said: “Tribus has grown to become an award-winning digital consultancy that has worked with the largest companies in the UK. However, we are an ambitious bunch and excited about our next stage of expansion in the UK and overseas.”

Clients include Willmott Dixon, John Adams, SIG, and Lendlease.

Adam Spry, director, added: “The pandemic pushed many organisations to review their digital transformation plans. Our holistic approach to delivering projects is proving popular as companies seek answers to problems rather than simply the creation of software or data management.”
