

HAVE YOUR SAY: What must the Autumn Statement do for your business?

Chancellor Jeremy Hunt will deliver the government's Autumn Statement on Thursday, November 17, bringing in 'tough decisions' as the economy faces the longest recession on record and soaring inflation at a 40-year high.

The Chancellor has warned that everyone will be paying more tax as a result and department spending will be squeezed.

But businesses have urged caution, asking for initiatives that encourage investment and growth.

We want to hear from you on the biggest challenges facing your business and what you would like to see in the Autumn Statement.
