

Luxury Rutland Hall Hotel strengthens wedding offering with picture-postcard pavilion

A luxury hotel and wedding venue on the shores of Rutland Water is nearing the completion of a new 500 seat wedding pavilion.

The 'Rutland Pavilion' is set to open at Rutland Hall Hotel and Spa's this summer, and will be available for occasions including weddings, conferences, dinners and award ceremonies.

Grace White, weddings and events at the hotel, said it will be the latest addition to its selection of luxury wedding packages.

She said "We're delighted to be expanding our wedding packages with another great option for our couples.

"It means they can explore a wider range of indoor and outdoor spaces within our 70 acres of picturesque parkland, truly making their day special and unique to them."

Managing director Jo White said: "This luxurious new pavilion is a continuation of our multi-million-pound refurbishment over the last two years.

"We strive to showcase how special we are as a destination venue and we can't wait to exceed the expectations of soon-to-wed couples with the newest addition to our popular wedding packages."

The hotel was recently voted one of the 'Top 100 Places to Stay for 2023' by the Times and was named Medium Business of the Year at the 2022 LeicestershireLive Business Awards.

It has undergone a big upgrade in recent years after behind bought by the family which established the Cofresh snack brand in Leicester.
