South West-based company Silvey Fleet expands into Ireland

Successful South West-based fleet management company, Silvey Fleet has announced its expansion into Ireland.

The family-run business, which is headquartered in Bristol, has evolved over time in response to changes in the market. It now specialises in vehicle fleet management solutions and is one of the UK's most established reseller of fuel cards.

Silvey Fleet currently employs around 40 people and hopes that the expansion into Ireland will further grow the business and open up new "and exciting" job opportunities for people living in and around the South West.

The company's staff work with fleet managers and business owners to help them improve efficiencies within their vehicle fleet and reduce running costs. Silvey Fleet also helps customers identify viable opportunities for replacing existing fleet vehicles with an electric alternative.

Managing director, Miriam James said: "We've worked hard to get to where we are and I'm immensely grateful to my team for their diligence and commitment. I'm delighted to be expanding the business into Ireland and having the opportunity to offer our market-leading fleet management solutions to a new audience. This, together with plans for further growth, make these exciting times for Silvey Fleet."

The transport company says it strives to build "successful", long-term relationships with customers throughout the UK by keeping them at the "heart" of everything it does. The Bristol-based fleet management company has earned itself a Gold accreditation from Investors in People.

Read next:

- South West start-up digiLab named among UK's best new tech firms

- Bristol company that makes body parts for medical training strikes multimillion-pound deal

- Ovo Energy to bid for Shell's UK gas and electricity supply arm – report

- Gloucestershire Azets office forecasts turnover boost after merger

Like this story? Why not sign up to get the latest South West business news straight to your inbox.