

Winn Group toasts record revenues of £97m despite exceptional challenges

Newcastle law firm Winn Group has seen turnover almost double to a record £97.9m despite exceptionally challenging times in its sector.

The Byker business said the milestone figure marks the biggest leap in annual turnover since the company was founded in 2002, and follows the introduction of legal reforms which it said has forced many competitors out of the market. On top of turnover increasing from £54m to just shy of £100m in the year ended March 31 2022, pre-tax profit soared from £1.866m to £12.8m, while Ebitda came in at £15.76m, significantly up on the previous year's £7.8m.

Winn Group CEO Chris Birkett said: "Even throughout the pandemic, as a group, we have been working hard in all areas of the business. As a result of new contracts won, our work volumes have more than doubled from before the start of the pandemic.

Read more: North East tech innovator Honcho collapsed with £4.87m deficiency, documents show

Mr Birkett said the growth allows the company to continue its recruitment drive with aims to double headcount, which currently stands at 530. As well as creating new jobs the firm recently acquired new premises close to its head office to house its growing team.

The company said that conducting huge volumes of claims, coupled with contract wins and acquisition of new business streams, have triggered the growth.

Mr Birkett said: “We have recently expanded our premises and located 75 members of staff into a new purpose-built office space. Our sales pipeline opportunities continue to grow and 2022 is proving to be another good year for growth.”

Winn Group executive chairman Jeff Winn, who launched the company 20 year ago, said: “There always needs to be evolution in any business, so it gives me a great sense of pride to see how Winn Group has become a major player in the industry over the last 20 years.

“Growing to encapsulate a number of brands that combine to deliver the best one-stop-shop in accident and claims management, the vision is to continue the rapid growth in provision of non-fault insurance and claims services to insurance brokers and the public.”

Holding a regular spot in the Top 200 North East companies list, Winn Group said it using its strong technological platform to expand its commercial offering from injury claims, with the launch of its dedicated wills website later this year. Mr Winn added: “The vision is to continue this growth at a rapid pace, whilst maintaining a high level of service and a cooperative approach with suppliers and those in the industry.”

Dragons' Den start-up Noveltea is wound up after Covid struggles

Read more technology business news here

Shield Therapeutics says US expansion will be aided by new shelf life ruling