Doing business in China is growing tougher, more uncertain, European business group says