EU leaders must double down on sustainability to secure a competitive and resilient future