Google agrees to pay AFP for its online content in deal that could shape how we consume news