Key Fit Locksmiths are now offering high-quality uPVC door and window repairs for commercial and residential customers across Newcastle.

Key Fit Locksmiths have long been the local experts in locksmith services for domestic and commercial customers all over the northeast including Durham, Newcastle, Gateshead and Sunderland, including 24-hour emergency locksmith services.

They have built a strong reputation over the years for their dedication, customer service and the specialist skills they provide.

Now, they are pleased to announce that they are highly regarded experts in uPVC windows and doors, providing specialist services to their customers throughout Newcastle.

uPVC doors and windows are very popular for their low maintenance and because there is a wide range of products to choose from. But Newcastle customers often experience problems with their uPVC doors and windows. These doors are often secured using multipoint locking mechanisms that involve different locking points like bolts, rollers or hooks.

But over time, the handles can become stiff. And because of regular movement to the mechanisms inside the door, the handles sometimes get looser. Some doors also have more glass, making them heavier. As such, these doors can drop, and the door stops lining up with the holes, which makes lifting the door handle harder. Over time, this can lead to the mechanism breaking, which can be very costly.

As experts in uPVC doors, Key Fit Locksmiths can solve any of these problems for their customers in Newcastle. They provide a quick, convenient and secure service for customers that includes repairing doors and windows as well as supplying and maintaining uPVC locks for doors and windows, handles and mechanisms.

Lock snapping is another problem with uPVC doors. The multi-point locking systems make these doors secure, but snapping can be a serious problem when lower quality Euro cylinders are used. Burglars know all about this, and the mechanisms are easy to snap, meaning someone could break into a home in seconds.

Key Fit Locksmiths can help improve home security by fitting snap safe Euro cylinders, which makes the lock snapping technique impossible for burglars.

Michael Mackay, Managing Director of Key Fit Locksmiths, said: "We are delighted to be able to help our customers across Newcastle with all their uPVC door and window requirements. As well as their expertise in uPVC doors and windows, Key Fit Locksmiths also provide all kinds of locksmith services to their customers across the northeast of England. This includes commercial services, auto locksmith services, burglary repairs, safes and more.
