

Senior banker predicts 'mild recession' and Scottish Power bucks the trend

Ian King interviews Charlie Nunn – the chief executive of Lloyds Banking Group, who has told Sky News he is still expecting to see a mild recession in the UK this year, and Scottish Power's chief executive Keith Anderson joins Ian King to discuss the fact his company hasn't reported bumper profits.

:: Listen and subscribe to The Ian King Business Podcast here.

Advertisement