

UK's economy grows, Zoom's future and Sussex wine

In the episode, Ian King catches up on the latest negotiations with RMT members on the second day of rail strikes.

Chris Williamson from S&P Global Market Intelligence joins Ian to discuss figures which show the UK's economy continues to grow, while Zoom's CIO advisor Magnus Falk discusses the company's future – which is being used less since people returned to offices following the worst of the COVID pandemic.

Kalibrate's Oliver Shaw talks about concerns people have about switching to electric cars, International Women in Engineering Day is celebrated – and after Sussex wine was given protected designation of origin status, Ian speaks to the founder of the Rathfinny Estate.
