

Who would buy Channel 4, leasehold market shake-up and global threat to cotton

As the government looks for buyers for Channel 4, we hear from a media analyst on who might be interested.

Plus the competition regulator explains who will benefit from a clampdown on freeholder charges – and a cotton expert tells us how global heating is threatening the industry.

:: Listen and subscribe to The Ian King Business Podcast here.

Advertisement